ASSURANCE GIVEN TO HAWAII

Local Delegates to Democratic National Convention Say
Free Sugar Never Part of Plan

That Hawaii's delegation to the Democratic national convention in Baltimore believed that it had the best of assurances from Presidential Candidate Woodrow Wilson against a policy disastrous to sugar is attested to by two of the delegates to the body that nominated Woodrow Wilson for the presidency.

M. C. Pacheco, chairman of the Democratic territorial central committee, and John Effinger, the two delegates now in Hawaii, said today that they had no reason to fear any such contingency as Wilson's attitude on sugar has now brought about.

"Congressman Broussard of Louisiana went down to Bogart, N. J., to see Mr. Wilson and I met him on his return," said Pacheco this morning. "He told me then that he had broached the subject of the sugar tariff to Mr. Wilson and that he was told the sugar producing people need not worry. Certainly Broussard thought he had assurances from Mr. Wilson on the subject."

"I was a member of the rules committee and I favored the change in the rules to nominate the candidate first and pass on the platform afterward. Had there been any intimation of Wilson's present attitude on sugar, certainly neither the delegation from Hawaii nor the Louisiana delegation would have been ready to nominate him, and later adopt the platform. It would have been demanded that we know the platform before nominating the candidate."

John Effinger said that Hawaii understood there need be no cause for alarm on the question of the sugar tariff. "However," said Mr. Effinger, "Wilson made no definite pledges, I feel sure of that. But we certainly received the intimation that his attitude was not hostile to the sugar tariff."

Pacheco says that the only intimation of free sugar during the entire convention came when, in making a speech accepting the chairmanship of the convention, Ollie James of Kentucky referred to free sugar briefly, but that it was never part of the Democratic legislative program as the delegates understood it.

GOVERNOR IS HOME FROM A VACATION TRIP

With nose burned to an angry red hue and cheeks deeply tanned Governor Frear returned unexpectedly yesterday morning on the Wilhelmina from the Big Island, completing his week's vacation. Accompanying him was Territorial Secretary E. A. Mott-Smith, who flaunts an even deeper and darker coat of tan, acquired in horse-riding and cattle-driving on the Kula ranch. The latter has been absent from official duty a fortnight.

The governor had wired Mrs. Frear last Friday that, unless urgent business demanded his attention here he would not return until the Mauna Kea arrived, tomorrow morning. That was because he believed he could not reach Hilo in time Friday afternoon to catch the boat, but on learning later that the Matson Company vessel was leaving Saturday, he concluded to return on it, in order to be ready for an entire week's work in the office.

A number of interesting features developed during the chief executive's short holiday, not the least of which was the fact that the governor qualified under the army cavalry test regulations by riding ninety miles in three days on horseback, and over some extremely rough, mountainous trails, at that. Another feature was that on last Tuesday, with the other members of the party, he reached the apex of Mauna Kea and for a time stood on the highest point in the Hawaiian Islands. The latest scientific figures show that Mauna Kea's altitude is 13,675 feet. The governor went even higher, however, as Mott-Smith stands ready to prove by a photograph he took of Frear standing on a large rock at the summit.

LOCAL PONIES HELP WIN POLO CHAMPIONSHIP

J. M. WATERBURY JR., ON W. F. DILLINGHAM'S HELEN C.

The international polo championships, which ended last Saturday with a hair-line victory for the American defenders, helped to spot Hawaii still more definitely on the polo map of the world. Two, and possibly three ponies, belonging to Hawaiian poloists, carried members of the American team to victory, in two of the greatest contests in the history of the Anglo-American struggle for premier polo honors.

The sportsmanship of the Hawaiian poloists in sending their three best mounts east, for the use of the American team, has caused comment on both sides of the continent. The ponies went at the expense of the local men, and absolutely at their own risk. Walter F. Dillingham, Dr. Will Baldwin and E. F. Baldwin, were the players who contributed their ponies, Helen C. Carry the News and Dandy, respectively, to the American string. Had there been other ponies of international class in the local stables, they would have been as freely offered.

RAISING SALARIES, SUPERVISORS ABANDON EARLY 'ECONOMY' PLANS

Majority Approve Program Calling for Many Increases—Mayor Fern and Pacheco Oppose—Much Money To Be Spent on Good Roads Work

Here are raises in monthly salaries proposed and favored by a majority of the supervisors in yesterday's caucuses:

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Special officer attached to county attorney's office (Harry Lake), from $110 to $125.

Jailer (Julius Asch Sr.), from $160 to $175.

Station clerk (Julius Asch Jr.), from $125 to $150.

Deputy sheriff's clerk, from $10 to $125.

Patrol drivers (two), from $90 to $100.

Weights and measures clerk, from $90 to $100.

Mounted patrolmen, from $90 to $100.

Truant officer, from $75 to $85.

Sergeant of detectives, from $110 to $125.

CLERK'S OFFICE.

Chief clerk (Henry Van Gieson), from $125 to $150.

Assistant clerks (two), from $100 to $110.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE.

Clerk (S. Maheiora), from $125 to $135.

ATTORNEY'S OFFICE.

Deputy attorney (A. M. Brown), from $225 to $235.

SANITARY DEPARTMENT.

Meat and food inspector (Dr. W. T. Monsarrat), from $125 to $150.

Nurse, from $90 to $100.

Milk inspector, from $100 to $120.

A general salary raise for city and county subordinates whose pay was cut on a program of economy by the Democratic administration six months ago is now the proposal of the same administration.

The board of supervisors and the mayor met in lengthy caucuses yesterday afternoon and evening to go over the budget for the next six months. They decided upon a total budget of something over $434,480, the exact figures to be worked out later, of which $169,900 will go into permanent street and road-improvements.

They also approved a long list of increases in monthly salaries, by which most of the economies in this direction effected at the beginning of their term of office will be lost. The city hall and other municipal employees who were then visited with a salary cut are to be restored to their former pay and in several instances there will be material raises.

This part of the caucus program was not decided upon until after strong opposition on the part of both Mayor Fern and Supervisor Pacheco. Mayor Fern had joined with Sheriff Jarrett in urging that the police department be supplied with a drillmaster. The supervisors refused to allow this, but they raised several salaries in the department, both among the executive officials and the patrolmen. The department's request, also recommended by the mayor, that an additional patrol wagon driver be employed, so that there could be one for each eight-hour shift, was denied, the pay of the two present patrol drivers being raised $10 apiece monthly. Both Fern and Pacheco objected to the salary-increases but the majority of the board favored it and unless they change their opinion at another caucus to be held tonight, the raises will be formally put through.

Much Money for Roads.

What is regarded as progressive work was done in distributing funds for permanent road improvements. Permanent paving is to be completed on King street from Nuuanu to Liliha streets, on Kapahulu road from Waiatae to Kapiolani park, the unfinished side of Kalakaua avenue is to be completed, and Pauoa road from Nuuanu to Auwailimu is to be widened and paved. Also, an uncompleted mile and a half on the Oahu belt road system, down at Waiatae, is to be finished by the Municipality, and several concrete arch bridges are to be constructed. The funds are not yet appropriated.

Some of these jobs, among them the Kalakaua avenue completion, the Pauoa road improvement and the finish-

REV. H. P. JUDD ADDRESSES GRADUATES

"The Rules of the Race of Life" was the subject of an interesting and inspiring baccalaureate address delivered by Rev. Henry P. Judd in Central Union church last evening before the class of 1913 of Oahu College, their parents, friends and instructors.

The exercises were presided over by Arthur F. Griffiths, president of Oahu College. Miss Helen Latham directed the music and Miss Margaret E. Clarke played the organ. The program opened with an organ prelude, "Fantasia in E Minor," by Miss Clarke, which was followed by a vespers hymn. The Oahu College Glee Club, which formed the choir, sang Rossini's anthem, "To God in Heaven," after which Principal Charles T. Fitts pronounced the benediction.

POISON FIEND BUSY, PARENTS ARE WORRIED

With reckless disregard for the lives of little children poison is being distributed along Campbell avenue, in the Kapahulu district, with the result that six dogs, some of them valuable pets, and a number of chickens have died within the last 48 hours. Saturday night the work of the poison fiend was discovered for the first time, the pet of Mrs. William Martisen being found dead. A short time later four dead dogs were found in the yard of Mrs. William Pauhaui, while the neighborhood was plentifully sprinkled with dead chickens.

Residents of the Kapahulu district are up in arms and it will go hard with the culprit should he be unearthed. The method employed to destroy the animals is through the distribution of poison-soaked pieces of bread, and parents are in deadly fear that their little ones may get hold of some of the food intended to end the lives of their pets.

THORVALD BRANDT IS NAMED A MEMBER OF SCHOOL COMMISSION

Thorvald Brandt, manager on Kauai for Bishop & Company, also treasurer of C. B. Hofgaard & Company and president of the Waimea Stables has accepted appointment to the board of school commissioners of Kauai. His acceptance of the appointment, sent him by Governor Frear before the latter's departure for Hawaii more than a week ago, arrived by mail from the Garden Island this morning.

This completes the membership of the school commission. The board will hold its first meeting next Monday, June 23, at 10 o'clock at the office of Superintendent Gibson, when appointments of instructors in the public schools will be considered.

MAGUIRE GETS SENTENCE OF FIVE YEARS

No Plea for Clemency Is Made by Either Attorney Before Sentence Is Passed

COURT ROOM IS CROWDED.
Maguire Has Nothing to Say.
Seven Indictments Are Dismissed

[Special Star-Bulletin Wireline]
HILO, Hawaii, June 16.—Former Auditor Charles K. Maguire, confessed juggler of the funds of the county of Hawaii, today was sentenced to serve not less than five years, following his plea of guilty to the first count returned against him by the grand jury. No plea for leniency was made by either attorney, each going no further than to make a simple review of the case. The judge, before passing sentence, simply asked Maguire whether he had anything to say to which Maguire replied strongly, "I have not."

Seven other indictments against Maguire were nolle prossed. The courtroom was filled to capacity when the sentence was passed, the feeling being very tense. Among the spectators was Rev. Father Cullen, pastor of Pauoho Catholic church, of which Maguire was a member.

POLICE STOP HILO BOXING

[Special Star-Bulletin Wireline]
HILO, Hawaii, June 16.—The police jumped into the ring here last night, to save "Kid" Klemme from further punishment at the hands of Ben De Mello. The "Hilo Lion" had things all his own way from the start, and in the fifth round, when Klemme had been knocked down repeatedly, the representatives of the law interfered, and ended the mill.

PAPA KOU DEPOT SAFE IS ROBBED

[Special Star-Bulletin Wireline]
HILO, Hawaii, June 16.—Papa Kou station on the Hilo railroad was robbed early Sunday morning, the thieves securing $87 from the safe after working the combination. Entrance to the depot was gained by forcing open the door. It is believed that the robbers had secured, in some manner, the combination to the safe before attempting the robbery.

FRANK WHALEY IS CHARGED WITH MURDER

Three of the five indictments returned by the territorial grand jury Saturday were made public this morning when the accused men were arraigned before Circuit Judge Robinson.

One is a charge of murder in the first degree, which confronts Franklin Lee Whaley, former night switchman for the Mutual Telephone Company, who shot and killed his wife in the company's second-floor offices on the night of May 4.

Since his arrest Whaley has been held without bail. He appeared in court this morning with his attorney, A. D. Larnach, at whose request the court granted a reservation of plea until next Wednesday morning.

David Kaipu, indicted for burglary in the first degree, accused of entering the Oahu Country Club on February 16 and stealing $35 in cash, entered a plea of guilty this morning. He will receive sentence Wednesday morning.

Bruce M. Strong, indicted for assault and battery with a deadly weapon, the outcome of his battle with Kim Hung on April 13, pleaded not guilty today. His case was continued to be set later for trial. The two other persons indicted have not been apprehended by the authorities.

Prof. John McTaggart of the College of Hawaii, with John M. Martin, paid a very pleasant visit to the Myrm Sunday School on Willie street yesterday. Both visitors made speeches to the children. Mrs. Waterhouse, who was present, was given a hearty welcome home from her trip through the Orient by the scholars of the Sunday school.

SEES NEW SUGAR TRUST FREE TRADE THE CAUSE

Henry Oxnard, Beet Sugar Magnate, Tells Lobby Probe Committee That Present Tariff Program Will Inevitably Result in Combination—No Independent Factories Can Survive, He Asserts

[Associated Press Cable]
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—Henry T. Oxnard, president of the American Beet Sugar Association, comprising practically all the factories in the United States, declared to the senate's "lobby probe committee" today that the establishment of free sugar will result in the formation of a new sugar trust.

He declared that he himself had in mind the formation of a trust, and he asserted that there is no law against it. He said that only the best regulated factories could survive the results of free sugar and that under such circumstances combination is inevitable.

Oxnard described the methods and organization of the old sugar trust.

Moro Outlaws Completely Routed in Fierce Fighting

[Associated Press Cable]
MANILA, P. I., June 16.—The Moro outlaws have been completely routed in the fierce fighting of the last few days at Bagaak. Six Americans have been killed and seven wounded. Bunga Bunga, believed to be one of the strongholds of the outlaws, was taken by hand-to-hand fighting on Friday. One American was killed in this fight.

Slight Duty Put on Bananas

[Associated Press Cable]
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—After a lengthy conference today the senate finance committee took the item of bananas off the free list and imposed a slight duty on imports. Chairman Simmons of the committee refused to make public the amount of duty decided upon.

McReynolds suggested a graduated tax upon tobacco imports, but the suggestion was unanimously rejected.

The citrus fruit schedule remains unchanged.

Currency Reform Is Started

[Associated Press Cable]
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—President Wilson will probably read his message on currency reform personally to Congress. His message urges immediate revision of the banking and currency laws. The bill carrying out his ideas will probably be launched in both houses of congress this week.

DOUGHERTY OUTLINES FAIR PLANS

Advocating for 1914 a bigger and better Floral Parade and Mid-Winter Carnival than has ever before been undertaken by Honolulu, James J. Dougherty, who was last week asked to take the position of director-general of next year's pageant, met with the members of the promotion committee at a special meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon and there outlined the plans which he has formulated for carrying out the celebration in case he accepts the nomination as manager.

Prior to the presentation of Mr. Dougherty's plans, Chairman Waldron of the promotion committee suggested that those visitors present, as well as the members of the committee, take part in any discussion which might arise, and requested them to vote on any action taken. He further stated that, while the floral parade and carnival were directly under the outgrowth of the efforts of the promotion committee, he believed it best that a number of persons not affiliated with the committee be present in order to ascertain the workings of the organization. But three of the seven visitors invited were present during the first half of the meeting.

Mr. Dougherty presented his plans, which consisted of eighteen typewritten sheets, merely as an answer to Mr. Waldron's request that he take the position of director-general of the 1914 celebration. He suggested that any member who wished to make any suggestion or ask any question during the reading of the plans, to do so. He first took up a consideration of the celebration from all points, principally toward that point which would tend to make the pageant self-sustaining. He said that he believed that, with consideration of all plans, the 1914 pageant could be pulled off on a larger and more elaborate scale than ever before. "I am aware that to do this will mean considerable money," he added, "but that money, well spent, is bound to bring good returns."

That the large committees which in the past have had charge of the various branches of the celebration should be eliminated was the opinion strongly set forth by Mr. Dougherty. This work, he said, should be placed in the hands of several responsible persons, who would work as well as boost. According to the plans, Wednesday, February 18, would be set as the opening day of the carnival. This day would consist of a program of aquatic sports at the harbor, in the place where the recent A. A. U. meet was held. Swimmers from the coast could be brought here and these matches
